I've purchased many interior design books from many popular design bloggers and tv hosts. It seems like most books are there for ideas or contain pretty pictures on what a great room would should look like. I already have great pictures from my travels around the world and from my obsession with Pinterest.What this book did (and what I needed) was to outline the steps needed to turn a my interior design idea into reality. Sabrina provides a step-by-step process that is easy to follow and includes basic rules to help. I have great ideas, I just didn't know where to start, but feel like this book was like a college class in Interior Design. I even took an Interior Design class in college and didn't learn as much as I did from this book. I originally saw Sabrina promoting her book on The Nate Show over a year ago, and my only regret is that I didn't purchase this sooner, because I've made some design faux pas in the last year with design of our fixer-upper. After reading her book, I now feel confident that I'm on my way to designing the home that up until now only existed in my imagination!

I am not familiar with Sabrina Soto's style but I decided to buy the book because of the good ratings and comments it had in . I am not sorry I bought this book. She gives wonderful ideas for storage, color combination, floor types, carpet types, bathroom, bedrooms. She definitely covers all your house. I think that what I like best is the fact that you take the ideas that you can apply for your own house. The book is not written only for big upper class houses, it's a book for everybody who is interested in doing some changes in the house and organizing the house so it looks clean, without clutter and pretty. I loved the idea of a storage bed, I never thought about that one before. I was also reading the bathroom section yesterday and she suggested using a shower curtain that has pockets so your bathroom is not full of bottles on the counter. I thought that was an excellent idea! I bought that shower curtain today from [...] and it was only $17.00. It is only sold in clear so Sabrina suggests using it as a liner and putting on top a beautiful fabric curtain to cover the pockets. Guess what? I have 2 boys and I thought this curtain would be perfect for their bathroom. They always like to bring toys to play in the bathtub and leave them there so now they will be able to put them in the pockets and they will dry out. The mesh pockets come in different sizes so you can also put your shampoo, conditioner and other little items. It's a great idea to keep your bathroom counter tops without clutter. I also use baskets in the bathroom because it's easier to clean the counter tops if you just have a basket with your items inside than having all typed of bottles on the counter top. Sabrina has really great storage ideas, you won't believe it. Someone mentioned in a review that the pictures in the book are not Sabrina's design but you know what? I loved them. Her style seems to be simple and elegant with a lot of neutral colors and that's my style too so I just love it. I really recommend this book to anyone wanting to do changes in the house. She suggests doing one area of your house at a time. You won't be sorry to buy it!

.com Exclusive Home Decoration Tips from author Sabrina Soto Choosing artwork for your home can be tricky and tiresome! But here are some simple suggestions to help relieve the pressure. Keep the style of your dcor in mind when making your selection. You don't want your artwork to clash with existing items in your room; so, if your room is traditional, stick with traditional artwork. The same applies for modern, rustic or contemporary rooms. Buy artwork that is proportional to other pieces in your room. You want to create a sense of visual balance. Be careful not to choose pieces that are too large or too small for your space. A good rule of thumb is that your art work should be 60% to 75% the width of what you are hanging it over. So if your sofa is 80" wide then your art work should be no more than 60" wide. If you cannot afford large pieces of art, choose a series of smaller pieces that you can hang together in rows or collages. Avoid problems with glare by skipping the fancy frames and glass; unframed art is really popular right now and will add more depth to your space. Look for canvases stretched on frames, or prints on wood or metal backings. This will make shopping a little easier and often reduces the price of the piece. Always hang your art at eye level, no matter how tall your walls are. This will ensure the artwork will draw just the right amount of attention. Most importantly, buy what makes you happy; buy what you love!
