The neat thing about this book is that while the plans contain dimensions, they are printed 1:1. So if you don't like the huge locks (some are close to 5" in diameter), you can xerox and reduce the plans and make a smaller one (without having to recalculate; just cut on the lines).Once you examine a couple of the designs, you can see how you can make your own mechanisms for your own designs.0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. little beyond my skill level. The author did a very good job on describing how to build the locks.

These unique projects for making working locks entirely from wood will present an exciting challenge to woodworkers. The Big Book of Wooden Locks presents all of the most popular wooden lock projects of Tim Detweiler, the Lock Man, from his first two books. Detweiler's beautiful and complex wooden lock designs have captivated woodworkers around the world. These amazing projects are all fully functional and are constructed entirely in wood, with no metal parts. Step-by-step instructions, complete dimensioned drawings, and color photographs give readers complete information on constructing each project. These intricate designs will challenge readers' woodworking skills, teach techniques for creating wooden mechanisms and puzzles, and produce impressive, beautiful creations that testify to the builders' skill and woodworking accomplishments. From a simple warded lock with key to a complex push-button combination lock, these projects are fantastic conversation starters and make highly impressive gifts.

Offering clear and illustrated step-by-step instructions, "The Big Book of Wooden Locks" will enable even the most novice of wood workers to turn out functioning wood locks. Combining fun and function, this is an ideal and enduringly popular addition to personal, professional, school wood shop, and community library woodworking instructional reference collections. --Michael J. Carson, Midwest Book About the Author After retiring from multiple careers in carpentry, construction, custom homebuilding, and locksmithing, Tim Detweiler decided to combine his passions for woodworking and locks to create custom hand-made wooden locks. Detweiler's locks have won countless woodworking competitions and have been featured in the magazines Woodshop News and The National Locksmith. He is the author of two previous lock project books, Making Working Wooden Locks and Making More Working Wooden Locks.
