Norvin Pallas : The greenhouse mystery before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised The greenhouse mystery:

0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. A Decent StoryBy Beach ReaderOf the five Ted Wilford stories I've read, this is probably the second best. The writer, Norvin Pallas, is meticulous in making sure these tales are logically sound. All too often authors of children's literature disrespect the readers' intelligence by having absurdities or mere coincidence as major parts of the plot. The one negative is that as dedicated to logic as Pallas is, his stories suffer from a lack of warmth and character development. These stories are no Ken Holts or Rick Brants but if one is bothered by the "luck" the Hardy Boys have in solving their mysteries, Ted Wilford offers a cure.Pirate Treasure of Cape May
